FINANCIAL AID

Lee University offers a wide variety of financial aid to eligible students, including federal and state grants, loans, employment opportunities and private scholarships, as well as a combination of these programs. Since a large portion of Lee University's resources for financial aid is tied to federal funding, it is required that eligibility, or need, be established as an initial step in applying for financial aid.

To determine need, the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) MUST BE FILED through the Federal Processor. This will allow a student to be considered for the range of financial aid options available through the Lee University Financial Aid Office. All information must be received by Lee University before March 15 annually to be included in the priority group. To expedite the process, file a FAFSA online at www.fafsa.ed.gov.

All programs in the Center for Adult and Professional Studies qualify students for Financial Aid (except Independent Studies). Contact the Lee University Financial Aid Office or see the Undergraduate Financial Aid section in the current Catalog to find out more about availability of Financial Aid.

TOMLINSON CENTER ONLINE (TCOL) INSTRUCTIONS

Tomlinson Center Online courses offer study via the Internet. This form of study blends the best of independent study research with the traditional campus model in a virtual classroom environment. Over the course of the semester, students log in to classes for online instructions, lectures, assignments, discussions, etc. Current assignments and materials are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week throughout the term. These classes qualify as resident credit.

TCOL CLASSES

The Tomlinson Center board has entered a partnership with Lee University to offer fully accredited college-level classes that lead to a degree program. The first phase of this partnership will be online courses, which will be accessible around the globe wherever there is Internet service. Interested students should apply for registration immediately, due to the fact that each online class is limited to 20 students. These courses will be taught by Church of God of Prophecy instructors and will begin January 11, 2006.

These two classes will be taught by Dr. H.E. Cardin and Tim Harper. Dr. Cardin will be teaching Synoptic Gospels and Tim Harper will teach Pastoral Epistles. The classes will be part of a two-tier program. The International Offices will offer certificates of ministry after the completion of a certain number of courses and Lee University will award the bachelor's degree in Christian Ministry upon completion of all required courses for the degree.

As a Tomlinson Center Online student, you will also be enrolled as a student with Lee University. This partnership with Lee University and the Church of God of Prophecy enables us to offer a degreed program fully accredited for all of our students.
